BSB51415 Diploma of Project Management

BSB51415 Diploma of Project Management

The Diploma of Project Management addresses the chief vocational competencies commonly demanded by this dynamic discipline. Participants' existing knowledge is advanced through targeted vocational training that encompasses the latest developments in the field, and which articulates core principles that span situational context. The qualification offers a sophisticated understanding of the methods, techniques, and tools currently available to innovate the management of major project builds.

Description

The Diploma of Project Management is delivered by expert trainers via a blend of classroom and online methods.

Inclusions

All students will be provided with:

- E-book: Pearson, Neil. Larsen, E.W., Gray, C.F. (2013), Project Management in Practice: A complete course for BSB41513 and BSB51413, McGraw Hill Australia
- Access to fully customised online learning platform, MBA Learnbook.
- Regular contact with their trainer via email, telephone, regular webinars and/or LMS communication tools

Students will be required to have regular access to a computer and internet access to complete this course.

Assessment

A student is deemed competent when all relevant evidence is gathered. Master Builders Association NSW is receptive to evidence gathered from a variety of sources including our own assessment processes. MBA assessment processes may include:

- Recognition of Prior Learning/Credit Transfer
- Written/Oral Questions
- Written Reports/Portfolio Assessments
- Projects
- Scenarios/Case Studies

Regular training and assessment contact will be maintained by MBA in conjunction with the participant and their employer (where applicable). Critical dates during the program will be identified for participants to ensure compliance to assessment due dates and attendance at classroom sessions / webinars as required.
